

St. John the Evangelist Church revised protocols (June 2021):

Seating: All pews in the main section of the church (the nave) are now completely open for seating. The side transepts will remain open only every other pew for those who wish to continue social distancing.

Holy Communion: We will begin to process to the sanctuary June 19/20 (Father's Day weekend) for the reception of Holy Communion. Please process down the center aisle (either in the nave or the two side transepts) and receive Holy Communion, anywhere at the steps of the sanctuary, standing or kneeling, keeping distance as you are comfortable. The celebrant/deacon will move along the edge of the sanctuary from one end to the other. Please then return to your pew along the side aisles. For those with limited mobility, please alert the ushers ahead of time, and an Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion will bring Holy Communion to you. (For more detail, please see the diagram on the following page ...)

Entrance/Exit: Entrance into the church will continue at the Main Street entrance. Exit can now take place through any door.
